Photographs of the Oberammergau Passion Play, 1890.

MUNICH, May 20, 1890.

The world-famed Passion Play of Oberammergau began at the end of May. Before that time we had ready the collection of photographs which we are offering for sale.

THE PASSION PLAY OF

OBERAMMERGAU IN 1890.

Officially Acknowledged Original Photographs of the Year 1890.

ABOUT 40 SINGLE PORTRAITS, ABOUT 40 GROUPS.

Cabinets, Selling Price, 25 Cents.

Quartos, Selling Price, 60 Cents.

LARGE DISCOUNTS TO THE TRADE.

A limited number of catalogues for distribution to customers may be had on application. 100 copies with imprint furnished for 10 cents.

These photographs, published by the "Art and Publishing Establishment in Oberammergau and sanctioned by the Commune," are the only ones which will be taken at all in 1890 of the Passion Play, and which are authorized. They bear the imprint of the Commune of Oberammergau, and are to be had by Booksellers and Dealers in Art, through us alone.

All reproductions offered for sale by other firms are from former photographs of the years 1871 and 1880, and are therefore completely out of date.

We therefore recommend all our correspondents to keep our Collection in stock and call their attention to the statement below.*

VERLAGSANSTALT FUER KUNST UND WISSENSCHAFT,

Vormals Friedrich Bruckmann.

* We make known, by this present, that we have given the Publishing Firm for Art and Science, formerly Friedrich Bruckmann, in Munich, the sole right of general sale to Booksellers and Dealers in Art of our Officially Recognized Photographic Reproductions, permitted by the Commune of Oberammergau of the PASSION PLAY IN OBERAMMERGAU IN 1890.

Each copy of these photographic reproductions bears the imprint of the Commune of Oberammergau. Every other imitation of any sort, be it in separate persons or in groups, is from earlier photographs and is quite out of date, as the performers, garments, grouping, etc., have undergone so many changes. All such imitations purporting to represent the Passion Play in 1890 are against the law, and as such will be prosecuted by us.

OBERAMMERGAU, April 20, 1890.

ART AND PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT IN OBERAMMERGAU.
RECOGNIZED BY THE COMMUNE.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO.'S

NEW BOOKS.

THE TRAGIC MUSE.

A Novel by HENRY JAMES, author of "The Portrait of a Lady," etc. With covers of a fresh and artistic design. 2 vols., 16mo, $2.50.

"The Tragic Muse" attracted unusual attention while appearing serially in The Atlantic Monthly, and some of the most competent critics in America have pronounced it the strongest and best novel Mr. James has yet written. It has in a marked degree those qualities of thought, characterization, and style, which have won for Mr. James a foremost place among living novelists.

HEAT AS A FORM OF ENERGY.

Vol. III. of The Riverside Science Series. By R. H. THURSTON, of Cornell University. Illustrated. 16mo, $1.25.

This book is of the same general character as Professor Mendenhall's "Century of Electricity," and Mr. Kimball's "Physical Properties of Gases." It states with careful accuracy, but in popular style, all that is known of the properties of heat.

RIVERSIDE LIBRARY FOR YOUNG PEOPLE.

Vol. VII. JAVA: The Pearl of the East. By Mrs. S. J. HIGGINSON, author of "A Princess of Java." With a map. Cloth, 75 cents.

Vol. VIII. GIRLS AND WOMEN. By E. CHESTER. 16mo, cloth, 75 cents.

These two books add variety and value to the Riverside Library for Young People, which already contains Mr. Fiske's admirable account of "The War of Independence," Mr. Scudder's fresh and engaging "Life of Washington," Miss Merriam's excellent descriptions of "Birds through an Opera-Glass," Miss Bamford's bright book on insects taken in trips "Up and Down the Brooks," Mr. Greene's informing book on "Coal and the Coal Mines," and Miss Lacom's delightful and interesting autobiographical sketch "A New England Girlhood."

Mrs. Higginson writes of Java from long and intimate knowledge of that island; and E. Chester, from full observation and experience as a teacher, has written a book at once thoroughly readable, wise, and judicious. It should be in every household so fortunate as to have any girls.

THE AMERICAN HORSEWOMAN.

By Mrs. ELIZABETH KARR. With Illustrations, Glossary, and an Index.. New edition. 16mo, price reduced to $1.25.

This has been recognized as an admirable book, containing just the instructions all inexperienced and many experienced horsewomen need. The New York Tribune pronounced these instructions "comprehensive, clear, and admirably precise." The book is now issued at a greatly reduced price, and ought to have a wide sale.

For sale by all booksellers. Sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by the publishers,

NOTES IN SEASON.

D. APPLETON & Co. have in press a new volume of observations in natural history by Charles C. Abbott, M.D., entitled "Outings at Odd Times."

HARPER & BROTHERS have just published the first volume of Justin H. McCarthy's history of "The French Revolution," also Janvier's "Aztec Treasure House."

F. MARION CRAWFORD's new novel, "A Cigarette-Maker's Romance," is said to be a charming story, of somewhat the same character as his "Marzio's Crucifix," recently published. It will be issued by Macmillan & Co. early in July.

GEORGE ROUTLEDGE & SONS have in preparation a new edition of "Men of the Time," the title of which will be changed to "Men and Women of the Time." Over five hundred new names will be added and other improvements made.

THE BOWEN-MERRILL Co., Indianapolis, will publish shortly a useful work for lawyers interested in highway and railroad cases, entitled "The Law of Roads and Streets," by Byron K. and Wm. F. Elliot. The book will treat of the general principles of the law of roads and streets. It does not deal with statutes, except in an incidental way, but discusses the general rules of law.

T. B. PETERSON & BROTHERS have just ready a fifty-cent edition of the novel entitled "Can Love Sin?" never before published under $1.50. They have recently added to their twenty-five cent series of popular novels "India, the Pearl of Pearl River," by Mrs. Southworth; "Clara Moreland" and "Viola," by Emerson Bennett; "La Bête Humaine," Zola's new work; "The Corsican Brothers," by Alexander Dumas; "Worth the Wooing" and "Handsome Miss Lisle," by Lady Gladys Hamilton.

DE WOLFE, FISKE & Co. have just ready "Mamelons" and "Ungava," two Canadian idylls by W. H. H. Murray, "wild bits of romance told in ornate prose," the descriptive passages being extremely beautiful. They have in preparation "Mystery Evans," an interesting and well-written novel, by Beth Baker; also a library edition of the complete works of Charles Reade in sixteen twelvemo volumes, printed from entirely new type-plates. Each volume will have a fine etched frontispiece. It is designed to make this edition the best and handsomest in the market.

SCRIBNER & WELFORD have made arrangements with Walter Scott, of London, for the sole rights in the United States for the Contemporary Science Series and for the authorized English translation of Ibsen's plays edited by William Archer. The next two volumes in the Contemporary Science Series will be "The Criminal," by Havelock Ellis, and "Sanity and Insanity," by Dr. Charles Mercier. Both volumes will be fully illustrated. The third volume of Ibsen's plays, nearly ready, will contain "Lady Inger of Astrat," "The Vikings at Helgeland," and "The Pretender." Another volume will complete the set.

THE RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY, London, announce for immediate publication, through their American agent, Mr. Fleming H. Revell, of New York and Chicago, the following: "London Pictures," being the last addition to the popular Pen and Pencil Series; a new book by Sir J. William Dawson, entitled "Modern Ideas of Evolution as Related to Revelation and Science;" "Home Handicrafts," by Charles Peters, editor of the "Girls' Own Indoor Book," etc. "Stanley's African Expeditions;" also "Waiting to Be Loved" and the fourth volume of "Books for the People," comprising "Christie's Old Organ" and "Jessica's First Prayer" and other stories.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ROBERT GRANT has finished a new novel, which is described as "the story of an American family told simply and directly."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; in the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Allen, R: Miss Eaton's romance: a story of the New Jersey shore. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., [1890.] c. 300 p. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

A summer boarding-house on the Atlantic coast is the scene. Miss Eaton, who is at the head of the house, is a white-haired lady of middle age with a general atmosphere of romance surrounding her. Her boarders are the chief characters, until a vessel is wrecked on the shore one night, bringing a mysterious person to her house, whose appearance shocks her deeply. Her past story and her future fate are evolved by the same processes by which the mysterious stranger's story is brought forth.

Appleton's annual encyclopedia and register of important events of the year 1889. New series. V. 14. N. Y., Appleton, 1890. 8°, cl., $5.

Berry, E: Payson. Leah of Jerusalem: a story of the time of St. Paul. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1890.] c. 7+388 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The teachings and miracles of Jesus in Jerusalem color the opening chapters. His precepts make an indelible impression upon Leah, a young Jewish maiden, who loves Paul. She is the centre of a dramatic story. She is taken prisoner by a band of wandering Arabs and forced to become the wife of one of the chiefs; afterwards is sold as a slave to the Romans. Her gradual acceptance of Christianity, the horrors of the arena that she witnesses in Rome, her meeting again with Paul, are a few of the details of an excellent religious tale.

Böhm-Bawerk, Eugen v. Capital and interest: a critical history of economical theory; tr. with a preface and analysis by W: Smart. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1890. 45+431 p. 8°, cl., $4.

"No task is more difficult than to exhibit the Old Testament in the light of the New, discovering the permanent in the evanescent, and the spiritual in the form and type which it inhabited and illuminated. This book is at least the result of a firm belief that such a connection between the two Testaments does exist, and of a patient endeavor to receive the edification offered by each Scripture, rather than to force into it, and then to extort from it, what the expositor desires to find."—Preface.

The writer believes that science has made such great progress in the discovery of the causes of consumption that the responsibility for the suppression of consumption rests with ourselves. The great cities are the centres of this disease. Many statistics and facts prove this. For its cure, advice is given to go far away from them to seek "nature's cure" on the borders of civilization.

Hamer, Sarah Selina. Barbara Leybourne: a story of eighty years ago. N. Y., Hunt & Eaton, [1890.] 2-320 p. 1 il. D. cl., $1.

A love-tale in which are involved the fates of two young couples. The scene is laid in an English country town, at the beginning of the century. The book abounds in pleasant home scenes and incidents.

Harris, W. T. The spiritual sense of Dante's "Divina Commedia." N. Y., Appleton, 1890. sq. 16°, cl., $1.

Holding, Carlisle B. Reuben: a prince in disguise. N. Y., Hunt & Eaton, 1890. c. 2-315 p. D. cl., $1.

The dream of Reuben Rickett's life was to obtain an education. His father was an ignorant farmer, who had some means, but could neither read nor write. He refused to give any money to Reuben to pay for a year at the Seminary, telling him he might work it out if he liked. Reuben takes him at his word and shows both pluck and endurance. Finally Reuben's father gets into so many financial difficulties through his ignorance, that he comes to believe money invested in an education is not so poor an investment after all.

Home guide and cook-book: a book by 500 ladies, embracing about 1000 receipts and hints pertaining to cookery, the household, the sick-room, the toilet, etc., comp. chiefly from the Home Department of the Chicago Daily Tribune. The special subjects of these conferences are: 1. The sanctity of marriage; 2. The conjugal tie; 3. Divorce; 4. Legislation on marriage; 5. Profanation of marriage; 6. Celibacy and virginity. An index to the principal errors contrary to the dogmas set forth in the volume, and an analytical table of contents.
- Morehead, Mrs. L. M. Mottoes and recitations for Christmas festivals, with a song of welcome for the New Year. Bost., H. H. Carter & Co., [1890.] 2-23 p. sq. D. pap., 75 c.
A pretty little gilt-edge book, bound in white and gold; the mottoes are ingeniously worked out in a way to interest children.
- Morgan, Appleton. The society and the "fad": being an amplification of an address delivered before the Shakespeare Club of New York

- City, Nov. 1, 1880. N. Y., N. D. C. Hodges, 1890. 2+20 p. D. (Fact and theory pap., no. 2.) flex. cl., 20 c.
Written by the President of the New York Shakespeare Society. His aim is to show that the Shakespeare Society was not organized, like the Browning Society, to worship Shakespeare, or to study the Shakespearean method and form, but to study the matter (the material) in which Shakespeare deals. Also, to study the age and customs in which and among which Shakespeare lived and wrote, etc.
- Muir, T. The theory of determinants in the historical order of its development. Pt. 1, Determinants in general, Liebnitz (1693) to Cayley (1841). N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1890. 11+278 p. 8°, cl., $2.50.

Gives an account of the recent work done in three different fields of modern knowledge, which have a direct bearing upon the religious views of our time. The essays are: "The study of Sanskrit," by Prof. H. Oldenberg; "Aspects of modern psychology," by Prof. Jos. Jastrow; and "Rise of the people of Israel," by Prof. C. H. Cornill.
- Plutarch. Lives of Galba and Otho; with introduction and explanatory notes by E. G. Hardy. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1890. 124+289 p. 16°, cl., $1.40.
- Pottier, Rev. H. The twelve virtues of a good teacher; for mothers, instructors, and a charged with the education of girls; from the 12th French ed., by a Sister of Mercy. N. Y., Benziger Bros., 1890. c. 2+107 p. T. cl., net, 30 c.
- Powell, Ella M. Clío: a child of fate. N. Y., A. Lovell & Co., 1890. 1+122 p. D. pap., 50 c.
A story of love and adventure—the scenes laid in New York and Charleston.
- Pratt, Mara L. The fairyland of flowers; a popular illustrated botany for the home and school. Bost., Educational Pub. Co., 1890. c. 2+154 p. O. bds., $1.
The book has first the necessary chapters on the growth of the plant, the kinds of roots, stems, leaves, the parts of the flower, and the arrangements of those parts. Following this is a reference table, from which the student is able easily, and quickly, to trace the plant under consideration from its great classification as an Endogen or an Exogen, through the lesser classifications, directly to the family to which it belongs. The family is then described in a simple way, and still not lacking in the true description of the essential distinguishing features. A feature of the book is the plentiful interspersing of beautiful flower stories and flower poems and flower legends.

Rathbone, W. Sketch of the history and progress of district nursing, from its commencement in the year 1859 to the present date; including the foundation by the queen of the Queen Victoria Jubilee Institute, for nursing the poor in their own homes. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1890. 22+132 p. 12°, cl., 75 c.

Re Qua, Harriet Horner. Ziona, the bride of the king, and miscellaneous poems. N. Y. and Chic., Fleming H. Revell, [1890.] 226 p. sq. 12°, cl., $1.25.

Richardson, Anna Martin. Home-made candies and other good things sweet and sour. Cin., O., Rob. Clarke & Co., 1890. c. 6+94 p. D. cl., $1.

The author gives plain and easily understood directions for making, with the ordinary conveniences of the kitchen, many odd and delicious things. Besides the simple candies, cooked and uncooked, the work contains recipes for many novel delicacies, such as raisin roly poly, candy puddings, stuffed figs, home-made drinks, and odd varieties of pickles, creams, ices, etc.

Robinson, W. Gas and petroleum engines: a practical treatise on the internal combustion engine. N. Y., E. & F. N. Spon, 1890. 596 p. 8°, cl., $5.50.

Senex, (pseud.) The evolution of myth as exemplified in General Grant's history of the plot of President Polk and Secretary Marcy to sacrifice two American armies in the Mexican war of 1846-48. Wash., D. C., W. H. Morrison, 1890. 54 p. D. pap., 50 c.

Sessions, Francis C. In Western Levant; il. by H. W. Hall. N. Y., Welch, Fracker Co., [1890.] 5+252+12 p. D. hf. cl., $1.50.

Studies of life and character as seen in Madrid, Toledo, Cordova, Seville, Granada, Morocco, Algeria, and Tunis. The book is very tastefully gotten up, being embellished in the French style with many graceful vignettes.

Shinkichi Shigemi. A Japanese boy. N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1890. c. 89. 128 p. D. cl., $1.

Sketches of the life of a Japanese boy in his own country; his school-days, his amusements, his home life, and the lives of his friends and relatives, are most graphically described. The author has written the little book with the hope of securing further means to prosecute the studies he has taken up in America.

Slocum, Joshua. The voyage of the Liberdade. East Bost., Mass., pub. by the author, Capt. Joshua Slocum, 69 Saratoga St., 1890. c. 16°, cl., $1.

Describes the almost miraculous sea voyage of Capt. Joshua Slocum, after losing his vessel, the Aquidneck which was wrecked and went to pieces off the coast of Brazil in Dec., 1887. His crew left him; and assisted only by his wife and two sons, the captain built the Liberdade, a small boat about 35 ft. long, in which he set sail, and after a dangerous voyage of two months succeeded in reaching Washington in safety. The vessel is now in the Smithsonian Institution.

Stephen, Sir Ja. Fitzjames. A general view of the criminal law of England. 2d ed. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1890. 9+399 p. 8°, cl., $3.50.

Storr, F. Hints on French syntax; with exercises. 5th ed. Bost., D. C. Heath & Co., 1889. 4-48 p. D. cl., 34 c.

Swan, Annie S. Briar and palm: a study of circumstance and influence. N. Y., Hunt & Eaton, [1890.] 4-318 p. D. cl., $1.

Denis and Rhoda Holgate were the children of a man of noble birth who had married in his youth his mother's maid. Cast off by his family, he sank deeper and deeper into poverty, dying finally in a little shop in a back street of London that his wife had opened to shield the family from utter starvation. Denis Holgate had been educated by his mother through hard work and much self-denial. When the story opens he has just been told of his father's noble birth, and his mother's resolve to send him from her to claim his heritage. Rhoda, too, makes her first effort towards independence—her story being full of surprises.

Syllabus of plane geometry (corresponding to Euclid, Book 1-6); revised and brought into correspondence with the text-book prepared by the Association for the Improvement of Geometrical Teaching. New ed. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1890. 4+64 p. 16°, pap., 30 c.

Syracuse Browning Club. Memorial meeting of the Syracuse Browning Club, held at May Memorial Church, Syracuse, N. Y., Jan., 1890. Syracuse, N. Y., C. W. Bardeen, 1890. 3-94 p. D. pap., $1.

Contains addresses on: Browning's use of history, by Prof. C. J. Little; Aid to living from Browning, by Miss Mary E. Bagge; Browning as a theologian, by Rev. E. W. Mundy; Browning as an artist, by Mr. E. H. M. rell; Browning's philosophy, by Miss A. S. Huntington; Browning as a dramatist, by Rev. S. R. Calthrop; Some of Browning's beliefs, by Mr. C. W. Bardeen.

Tyler, B. B. Peculiarities of the Disciples: a series of five sermons. Cin., O., Standard Pub. Co., 1890. c. 2+69 p. D. pap., 25 c.

These sermons answer the following questions: What is the grand aim, what is the prime purpose, what is the distinct mission of the people known as the Disciples of Christ?

Vernon, S. M., D.D. Probation and punishment: a rational and scriptural view of the future state of the wicked, with special reference to the doctrine of a second probation. N. Y., W. B. Ketcham, [1890.] c. 86. 2-300 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The writer supports the doctrine of endless punishment for the wicked, and does not believe the doctrine of a second probation is found in the Bible.

Warner, Francis, M.D. A course of lectures on the growth and means of training the mental faculty; delivered in the University of Cambridge. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1890. 15+222 p. 16°, cl., 90 c.

Warner, H. E. Service of papers under the New York code of civil procedure and statutes, with decisions from other states and appendix of forms. N. Y. and Alb., Banks & Bros., 1890. c. 38+325 p. O. shp., $2.50.

Wilbor, Elsie M., ed. Delsarte recitation-book and directory. N. Y., Edgar S. Werner, 1890. c. 89. 15+302 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

Every piece has been chosen for its special fitness for recitation. They consist of 82 recitations in prose and poetry, ranging from simple childish pieces to the more dramatic ones. The book gets its name from several favorite pieces of Delsarte's, from an epigram on every page illustrating or stating some point in the Delsarte system, from a fine medallion portrait of Delsarte embossed on the cover and from illustrations, pantomimes, and analyses according to Delsartean principles.

Worth, Ellis, [pseud. for L. C. Ellsworth.] A little worldling: a novel. N. Y., American News Co., 1890. c. 320 p. D. pap., 50 c.

The "little worldling" is the beautiful and lovable daughter of an unsuccessful actor, who on his death-bed bequeathes her to his strait-laced Puritan mother, half brother and sister, living comfortably in a family mansion in the State of New York. All "Nixie's" ideas appear wrong to her family. Her young aunt falls foolishly in love, and Nixie shields her, bearing unjust suspicion and wrong. After many trials she is finally righted and brings her gloomy family to see that it is right to be happy and cheerful and enjoy pretty clothes and an occasional pleasure.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ALBERT COLBY, once a well-known Boston author, publisher, and bookseller, died May 27 at Fryeburg, Me., aged 63.

We learn with regret of the death, on May 26, of Mr. William E. Ward, for many years in the employ of the Burrows Brothers Company, Cleveland, O. For the past few years he has been one of the directors of the Burrows Company. He was a thorough bookman and had a host of friends. He leaves a widow and two children.

GEORGE HOOPER, author of the standard work entitled "Waterloo, the Downfall of the First Napoleon," which was recently added to Bohn's Library, and of the volume on Wellington in the English Men of Action Series, died suddenly in England a fortnight ago. Mr. Hooper was for many years connected with the Spectator, and this place he retained until his death.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JUNE 7, 1890.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

THE ENCYCLOPÆDIA BRITANNICA REPRINTS.

THERE have been recently put before the American public, from several houses, announcements of editions of the Encyclopædia Britannica and of Webster's Dictionary, which bring into painful prominence the lack of proper legislation which makes such a state of things possible. We hesitate to express ourselves as forcibly as we should wish, because, unfortunately, the publications against which this injury is directed have no case in court; though from a strictly moral point of view the wrong is no less great.

The Encyclopædia Britannica, as all know, is printed and published at Edinburgh by the Messrs. Black. Their edition is handled in this country by Little, Brown & Co., and sells for from $8 to $10 per volume. The edition with Charles Scribner's imprint was specially made by the Blacks to meet the competition in price, etc., of the J. M. Stoddart & Co. edition—set up and printed in this country—each of which editions sells at from $5 to $7 per volume. For years these three editions supplied the American market—the latter sustaining its legal right to existence after a long struggle in the courts. In 1886 the Henry G. Allen Company began publishing an edition of this Encyclopædia, printed from photographic process plates made in New York by the Lithographoid Engraving and Printing Co. It was fairly well made and sold for $2.50 per volume. It was marketed quietly, chiefly, if not entirely, by canvassers, and had, we understand, a fair success.

Within a couple of weeks four other houses—R. S. Peale & Co. of Chicago, John Wanamaker of Philadelphia, Funk & Wagnalls of New York, and Forbes & Wallace of Springfield, Mass.—have advertised liberally new editions of the Encyclopædia Britannica at $36.50 and $38 the set of twenty-five volumes. The edition of Funk & Wagnalls, we believe, is made from the plates of the Henry G. Allen edition, printed on cheaper paper. The other editions are said to be printed from a new set of process plates made by R. S. Peale & Co., and evidently intended as "bait" for the dry-goods book emporiums.

The offence of reprinting in this country and abroad is a common one, and has been often enough condemned in these columns to call for no further censure. It is an evil which we sincerely believe will be righted before many years. What we regret most in this matter, particularly at this juncture, is that a house of the standing of Funk & Wagnalls, who are also members of the American Copyright League, should have become party to so reprehensible a practice. It certainly should not add to their reputation in the eyes of their large circle of clerical friends. That their conscience is troubled is evident from the following statement, which accompanies their announcement:

"A word as to international copyright: We have long favored such a law; in its absence, it has become well-nigh, if not wholly, impossible to do a successful book business and respect the wishes of the holders of foreign copyrights. Our books, again and again, are reprinted in England without so much as a thank you. If we make a market for a foreign book, it is straightway reprinted against us, at a less price, by some one who pays no royalty. We are forced by self-protection to adopt the following rule as the fairest, all around, that is practicable—to publish what we wish of foreign books and then pay the foreign copyright owners what we think to be a just share of the profits. This we regard as the nearest approach practicable to an equitable working plan until our nation has recovered from its collapse of conscience on the international copyright question. This rule we apply to our handling of the 'Encyclopædia Britannica.'"

While there is much truth in this statement, we regret to say that it furnishes inadequate excuse for such a course. As the Evening Post truly says in a vehement, though rather intemperate article, on the subject: "Why, in the name of common decency, is a man obliged to do a 'successful book business,' if he cannot do it honestly, any more than a successful grocery or stationery business?"

Now and again cases are made public which give the impression that our English brethren are rather careless in their methods of doing business. Within three weeks the John W. Lovell Company have been called upon to defend themselves and to make explanation of matters that were not of their doing. First Mr. Hatton accused them of publishing one of his stories as "authorized," when he had not even been asked for authority, and indulged in some very strong language. And all this because his publishers failed to notify him that such an arrangement had been made.

Next Harper & Bros. discovered that the Lovell Company had published a novel by Justin McCarthy and Mrs. Campbell Praed as an authorized edition, which had been published by the Harpers a year ago under another title. In answer to their statement to this effect the Lovells reply that they purchased the American rights from the agent of the London publishers, being assured that the book had never been issued in this country. They also state that they had nothing to do with the change of title, the running head through the entire book which they had from England being the one used in their issue. The English publisher had evidently forgotten that he had already sold the right to another house.

Still another case has come to our notice, which, however, has not yet been made public. An American house which has had the agency for over a quarter of a century for an English religious magazine learned to their amazement, from one of their subscribers, that another American firm is advertising that it is now the agent of the magazine in question and that it will hereafter supply it at fifty cents a year less than it has been published for heretofore. This, be it understood, in the middle of the subscription year, and after the first house has obtained subscriptions at the higher rate. This transaction is the meanest of which we have yet heard. Our English friends are ever ready to hurl into our teeth "pirate," "Yankee trick," and other like encomiums. We are waiting to hear their vocabulary for these practices!

THE BOOKSELLERS' AND STATIONERS' PROVIDENT ASSOCIATION.

THE eleventh annual meeting of the Booksellers' and Stationers' Provident Association of the United States was held on the evening of June 4, at the rooms of George A. Leavitt & Co. It was, in point of numbers and the interest taken in the proceedings, the best meeting for years. The President, Mr. Charles T. Dillingham, called the meeting to order, and with a brief but very happy speech proceeded to business. The reading of the minutes of the previous meeting being dispensed with, the Secretary, Mr. W. B. Ketcham, read the following report:

Mr. President and Members of the Booksellers' and Stationers' Association of the United States:

With no ordinary delight we present to the many friends and enthusiastic members of the Booksellers' and Stationers' Provident Association of the United States our eleventh annual report, and give renewed assurances of the prosperity of our Association.

Last year it was our privilege to express our gratification upon the most successful year of its history. It is with added gratification we can report that the year now ending has been still more prosperous and the outlook for the future far more promising than at any period of the past. Such are the principles of our Association, and so faithfully have its conditions been met, that we are assured of the confidence of not only the members but the public in our endeavor to maintain a benevolent society of the highest order of worth.

Commendations are frequently received in respect to the management and operations of our body, and testify to the superior standing we hold among societies in other departments of business with like benevolent designs. In testimony of this, overtures are often suggested from kindred associations for union with us. More and more do the reflective observe the importance of our retaining with undiminished interest our high and honorable record.

The records of the Association indicate as follows:

The entire cost of starting and running the Association for the eleven years of its existence has been $3579.63, or at an average cost of $325.43 per year.

Assessments number 50 and 51, in course of collection, will pay death claims of Edward C. Swayne and O. L. Underhill.

It will be observed by the above statement that our membership now numbers 1090, and the increase has been obtained by the earnest work of a number of our members. It may at once be seen how easy it would be to secure the needful number to fill our ranks if every member would realize the importance of early action to increase the membership to 1500. By thorough and energetic effort of every member, this result could be secured at once. May we not again urge all our fellow-members to do their utmost to secure this end speedily?

As an additional incentive it should be borne in mind that whenever fifteen hundred members are secured, the reserve fund will be so materially strengthened that should at any time an unprecedented mortality occur, we would be prepared to meet all claims without multiplicity of assessments.

The cost of an ordinary life policy for $1000 in any of the large insurance companies for a man thirty-one years old, the average age of our members, is $24 per year, in one payment. Last year the cost to our members, for like amount, was $6.60.

The Law Committee have prepared an amendment to the constitution which will be brought to your attention. It meets with the hearty endorsement of your Board of Trustees, and we trust will be formally approved.

Since your last meeting Mr. Andrew Geyer, who has been our Secretary for the past six years, on account of multiplied business interests has resigned. It is eminently due in this report to note the fidelity and care he has evinced in the laborious and ever-increasing work of the Secretaryship.

We wish to invite special attention of all our members to the fact that at the completion of every assessment, we lose members. This is due chiefly to the failure of members to inform us of change of residence and to keep us posted as to their present address. Your former and present Secretary have found that they are required to trace from fifty to one hundred men every time an assessment is sent out. The amount of work to do this cannot be estimated.

In submitting this report it may not be amiss to again urge you to unwearied toil to secure members and thereby achieve grander results for our Association. Its benefits are unexcelled. Its affairs accurately and carefully managed. Its payments prompt. Its standing is unquestioned. With these sterling features and with the assurance that, with our present membership, one thousand dollars will be paid every claimant, we trust for a future which will commend us to the approval and endorsement of all observers.

Respectfully submitted by the Board of Trustees.

WILBUR B. KETCHAM, Secretary.

The amendment, the text of which was printed in our issue for May 10, then came up for a vote, and after a brief discussion was unanimously adopted. The President next presented to the former Secretary of the Association, Mr. Andrew Geyer, a handsomely engrossed and framed set of resolutions, recognizing Mr. Geyer's services and his untiring zeal and devotion to the interests of the Association. Mr. Geyer, who was quite touched by this token of esteem, made a brief speech, in which he recognized with amiable generosity the assistance given him by Mrs. Geyer, on whom the bulk of the clerical work had devolved. The election of Trustees to serve one year resulted in the choice of F. P. Lennon, John T. Ryan, Robert Morris, C. E. Cunningham, and Andrew Geyer. Resolutions were presented and unanimously adopted thanking Messrs. George A. Leavitt & Co. and C. T. Dillingham for the use of their offices and the trade journals for courtesies extended. The meeting adjourned at about ten o'clock.

THE COPYRIGHT MOVEMENT IN ENGLAND AND CANADA.

From the London Athenæum.

THE sub-committee of the Incorporated Society of Authors appointed to draft a Copyright Bill, and presided over by Sir Frederick Pollock, has finished its labors, and the bill, when approved by the General Committee, will be presented to Parliament as that of the Society. Its main features resemble those of the bill known as Lord John Manners', which was proposed after the Royal Commission on Copyright had reported; but some improvements have been introduced, and the bill, if accepted by Parliament, ought to give satisfaction to authors. Though no legislation concerning it can take place this session, yet an effort will be made to introduce the bill into the House of Commons before Parliament rises, in order that it may be printed and discussed during the recess.

The efforts of the Dominion Parliament to legislate to the detriment of British authors, though frustrated for the present, are not at an end. Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice, has intimated to a deputation of Canadian publishers that he intended "to continue urging upon Her Majesty's Government the right of the Canadian Parliament to legislate independently of the Imperial authority in regard to copyright in the Dominion." The right of the Dominion Parliament to legislate for Canadian authors may be indisputable; but why attempt to deprive British authors of the protection accorded to them by the Imperial Parliament? Lord Sherbrook is credited with saying that this country lost America because the American colonists would not permit us to rob them, and that we should lose other colonies because we would not permit them to rob us.

Robert Carter

BY PETER CARTER.

THE early youth of Robert Carter was passed in his native Scotland under most trying circumstances. A great longing for knowledge was satisfied only meagrely and at the price of unflagging hard work and daily self-denial. After struggling hard to acquire an education, he passed some years as a teacher, and finally entered the University of Edinburgh; but, unable to indulge himself in a university career, he boldly formed the plan to emigrate to America. He sailed in April, 1831, landing in New York after the month of sea-voyage required in those days. He had a letter of introduction from Prof. Pillans, of the Edinburgh University, to Dr. John Griscom, the head of the High School in New York. On his way up Broadway, he bethought him of this letter, and wondered how he should find the New York High School. So, stepping into a grocery-store near White Street, he asked a man, whom he afterwards found to be the proprietor, Mr. John Duncan, if he could direct him to Dr. Griscom's school.

"Oh, yes," he said; "I know Dr. Griscom well. My son goes to his school." Taking down his hat, he insisted on going with the young Scotchman to Dr. Griscom's school-room, which was in Crosby Street, near Grand, on the third floor. Climbing the stairs, they knocked at the door, and the doctor himself opened it. Dr. Griscom was a member of the Society of Friends. He read the letter of introduction, and with a benignant smile, said:

"So thee is Robert Carter. I am very glad to see thee indeed. We want just such men here. We have a great many producers, and we want men to educate and mould this mass of workers. Thee knowest I have not time to talk with thee here, but if thee will come to my house to tea to-night, I will be very glad to see thee."

The invitation was gladly accepted, and the visitors took their leave.

The tea-drinking passed off very delightfully, and both the professor and the merchant ever thereafter were fast friends of the young Scotchman. An opening soon after this having occurred in the high school, Mr. Carter gladly accepted the place, and Dr. Griscom and he labored on lovingly together until, from some difficulty among the trustees, the school was given up. Mr. Carter then began a school of his own, on the southwest corner of Broadway and Grand Street, where Devlin & Co.'s clothing store stood for many years. The school was successful, and among his pupils were some who afterwards became prominent in church and state. But there were personal reasons for changing his avocation, and soon afterwards he decided to do it.

Passing along Canal Street one day, in the spring of 1834, Mr. Carter saw a store to let, and although he never had sold a book in his life, and had had not the slightest acquaintance with mercantile affairs of any kind, he at once determined to take it and try his fortune as a bookseller. Just at that time the stock of an insolvent bookseller in Cortlandt Street was advertised for sale. It was not the most valuable assortment of books that could be found, but Mr. Carter obtained it at a great bargain, and, with some additions from other sources, he began the selling of books and stationery at the corner of Canal and Laurens Streets, in April, 1834.

While he was in the act of putting the books on the shelves, a young woman came in and asked for a Bible. He showed her one—she asked the price, and he told her at haphazard 75 cents. He subsequently found that it had cost him a dollar, but he had a sort of inward satisfaction in beginning his business by the sale of a Bible. Early in his business career he attended auctions, and bought what was valuable and cheap.

One day he needed some hymn-books, such as were used in the Dutch Reformed churches, and hearing that George Long, then in Fulton Street, had some, went there for them.

"Yes," said Mr. Long, "I have about four dozen, and I will clear them out cheap." The bargain was soon completed, and the money paid.

"Now," said Mr. Long, "I am going out of the miscellaneous book business, and I will sell you all these shelves full at six cents per book."

"But I have not the money to pay for them," Mr. Carter said, after he had carefully examined them and seen how desirable they would be for him.

"I will take your note," was Mr. Long's rejoinder. So the books were counted and the note drawn and signed. It was the first and the only note he ever gave.

The books were brought to the store in Canal Street, and for want of shelf-room were piled upon the floor. A gentleman came in who was interested in Sunday-school libraries and bought a large bill of the books, the amount of which was nearly enough to meet Mr. Long's note. So, without waiting for it to mature, Mr. Carter hurried away with the money, and took up the note, much to his own relief.

Attending an auction sale one day where the stereotype plates of "Horne's Introduction to the Study of the Bible" in two royal octavo volumes were offered, they were struck down to him for $3300. This was, of course, a very large sum for him to spare from his business, in fact he had no such sum on hand, but a relative promised to lend it to him. Telling the story of this purchase to Mr. John Campbell, the paper-dealer in Nassau Street, Mr. Campbell said, "But where will you get the money?" Mr. Carter told him that a relative had kindly agreed to lend it to him. "Oh, it is not a good plan to borrow from relatives. I will lend it to you and ask no note or obligation of any kind. You can return it when it is convenient." In less than six months the money was returned, and no small proportion of it from the earnings of the book itself.

Imported goods that are not called for at the custom-house after the lapse of a year are sold at auction without opening the cases, so that seller and purchaser are alike ignorant of the contents. Mr. Carter was present at such an auction, and bought a number of boxes. When they were opened in the little store, what was his disappointment to find that every box was filled with imperfect sets of Jonathan Edwards' Works, not one perfect set in the lot. At that time the British Government paid a certain drawback or rebate on the exportation of paper, even when it was printed, and these boxes had been shipped* to some bogus name in New York to get this rebate.

* We gladly make room for the above details of the business life of Robert Carter, furnished by his brother, and feel satisfied the trade will be much interested in getting this addition to the biographical information given at the time of his death in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY of January 4, 1890. At that time no portrait of Robert Carter was to be had; as the fine steel-engraving we now present has only been finished within a short time.]

But this young Scotchman was equal to the emergency. He found that while there was no complete set the great part of the sheets formed complete treatises. So he had these treatises cheaply bound, and sold them at a very low price, actually succeeding in reaping a handsome profit on his purchase.

From the day he opened his store he never had a question of his ultimate success, and no doubt this sanguine spirit helped him much in bringing about the success that attended his work.

Though a ruling elder in the Presbyterian Church, his interest and affection was not confined to his own denomination. His heart was large enough to take in the whole Evangelical Church in all its branches.

One day a wealthy friend called on him with a book which he wanted him to publish and of which he said he would take 100 copies. It was entitled "The Divine Right of Presbyterian Church Government."

Mr. Carter looked at it a moment, and said, "As I read the Acts of the Apostles, I think the Presbyterian form is a little the nearest to that inspired record, but I don't believe that any one form has a divine right," and he would not publish the book.

On another occasion a gentleman brought him a little volume to publish that had had a large sale in a Western city, on "The Difficulties of Armenian Methodism." Mr. Carter said, "No, I cannot publish it. Pulling down may be necessary, but I did not go into business to do that, but to build up Christ's Church as far as in my power."

In 1848 Mr. Carter took into partnership his two brothers, Walter and Peter Carter, thus establishing the firm of Robert Carter & Bros., which has continued unchanged to this date.

Mr. Walter Carter, in addition to his work in the department of the business under his care, has been very active in outside work of various kinds. He was for many years one of the trustees of the public school in the 22d Ward, and an active and interested attendant on the Presbytery, Synod, and General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, of which he has long been an efficient ruling elder.

Mr. Peter Carter has dabbled a little in literature. Three books for children are from his pen, all of which have been reprinted in Great Britain. Also a little volume of travel called "Crumbs from the Land o' Cakes." In 1853 he compiled a selection of the choicest productions of the Scottish poets with brief biographical sketches entitled "Scotia's Bards." Although it is a somewhat costly illustrated volume, several editions have been sold.

In the spring of 1874, Mr. Walter Carter withdrew from the firm, and Mr. Robt. Carter, Jr., the son of the senior partner, took his place. Mr. Robt. Carter, Jr., in addition to attention to his daily business, has managed to do a great deal of visiting among the poor and needy, bringing sunshine into many a humble home. These visitations have been largely among the colored people, to whom he is always a welcome visitor.

This firm has been conspicuous for the long continuance of employes in its service.

Mr. James Riddle was for 40 years in their employ, and many of these years their book-keeper and confidential clerk, a man of singular accuracy and neatness in his work, and like all their other employes a man of the most sterling integrity and uprightness. He died in 1885.

Mr. A. B. Lawson has been with the firm 37 years. For many of these years he has been their traveller, and is far better known to the trade generally than any member of the firm. Skilful, patient, painstaking, and persevering, he has been a universal favorite.

Mr. James C. Russell, a nephew of the brothers, has been with the firm for 33 years. He has charge of the mailing department, and his carefulness, neatness, and despatch in this rather troublesome department have been of very great service.

Mr. A. Ryder was the porter of the establishment for 33 years, and all his duties were discharged in the most faithful and conscientious manner. He died four years ago.

The firm has always pursued a peace policy, and has carefully avoided the entanglements of law. They have never sued any one nor been sued during all these years.

Their relations with the various authors for whom they have published books have been exceedingly pleasant and friendly. The same may be said of their relations with their fellow-publishers, who one and all see the old firm retire from their ranks with genuine regret.

The honest sentiments of the publishing fraternity were expressed in the testimonial sent to Mr. Robert Carter on April 1, 1884, on the completion of his fiftieth year of business life, which is here given:

NEW YORK, April 1, 1884.

MR. ROBERT CARTER.

Dear Sir: Your friends and associates in the book-publishing and bookselling trade of this city desire, on the fiftieth anniversary of your entrance upon the business, to convey to you their best regards and congratulations.

Some of us are the sons and successors of your early contemporaries, others are the representatives of a later generation, but the good-will and kindly feeling which you commended at the beginning, you have continued to retain through all the succeeding years of an honorable career. In your fifty years of business life you have seen the wonderful growth of the American publishing trade, and have borne a conspicuous part in the development and maintenance of that important branch which you originally chose and to which you have ever adhered. You have survived, with but one or two exceptions, those who were in business when you began, and are still able to take a part in the management of your well-established house.

In all these years of activity, and of many changes, you have made no enemies, and have constantly added to the number of your friends. You have conducted an exacting and difficult business with dignity and success, and in the serene years of later life are permitted to fully enjoy the substantial fruits of your industrious enterprise and unquestioned fidelity.

Be pleased then, on this notable anniversary, to accept our congratulations and hearty good wishes for your continued health and prosperity, and believe us,

Very sincerely yours,

A PLEA FOR THE ABOLITION OF THE TARIFF ON BOOKS BY MAIL.

Charles B. Curtis in the N. Y. Tribune, May 27.

IN a letter published in The Tribune of March 12 I drew attention to our illiberal and harmful tax on knowledge. I showed that this is the only country in the world that imposes a protective duty on books. What I wish to speak of more particularly at this time is books by mail. In other countries these pass free under the International Postal treaties, and they did so here until the United States Customs officials found an excuse for taxing them, when, at our instigation, new treaties had to be negotiated especially to fit our case.

The most remarkable thing about our system of collecting duties on books by mail is that the work was begun not to obtain money for the government, but in order to give employment to some persons for whom at the time no other occupation could be found. I happen to be in possession of a bit of secret history which ought to be made public, not for the credit of the government or of the actors concerned, but because it is a spot on which the sunlight should be turned for sanitary reasons. The statement is so extraordinary that I would not dare to repeat it if I did not have it direct from the person most conversant with the facts.

A few years ago a certain person in New York made a discovery that under the law and practice then in force all books not exceeding $1 in value were imported by mail without payment of duty. Being out of employment at the time, but willing to make himself useful to his country, this person sought an interview with the Collector of this port and proposed that a bureau should be established by means of which tribute might be exacted on every book imported by mail, no matter how small the value. The Collector promptly rejected the suggestion, on the ground that it would be discreditable for the government to engage in so paltry a business, and also for the reason that the receipts would not pay the cost of collection. But the inventor of the scheme was persistent, and he submitted his plan to the Secretary of the Treasury, offering to take charge of the business himself at his own risk, and to receive the duties collected for his sole compensation. The offer was at last accepted and the enterprising promoter was placed at the head of the Bureau, when, as had been anticipated, he found himself out of pocket, but he finally secured a change in the system and the loss now falls on the government. This was the origin of the bureau for the collection of duties on books by mail.

In the year 1889 there was received by foreign mails at the New York Post-Office 127,030 packages, containing 222,120 books. The duties collected amounted to exactly $23,294.29, being 18 cents per package or a trifle over 10 cents for each book. To collect this sum required a force of nineteen men, some of them receiving salaries as high as $2000. Since the average duty was only 10 cents on each book, it is safe to say that on 150,000 of them the duties were less than 8 cents each.

The labor expended in this work is enormous. Each package is opened, examined, appraised, and closed again; two entries at least, and often more, are made; a quarter of a million letters are written and sent, on which the postage alone would be more than $5000; accounts are kept with every post-office in the United States to which packages are addressed; collections are made, examined, and credited; stationery, printed forms, account-books, rent, fuel, lights, and other expenses are paid, and all this to enable the Government to collect $23,294.29 in sums of 18 cents each from 127,030 individuals. The statement seems incredible, but it is true.

That the business is done at a loss cannot be questioned. I have been informed by a person formerly ranking among the highest of the officials in charge of the work that the cost of this bureau, all expenses included, is not less than $60,000; that is to say, it cost 46 cents to collect the 18 cents due on each package. This estimate may appear extravagant, but is given on the best of authority, and when it is considered that the work requires the services of nineteen well-paid men, it is evident that the figures are not overstated. Certainly no commercial house would undertake to collect $23,000 in sums of 18 cents each from 170,000 persons at remote post-offices in every State in the Union for thrice the amount received.

It is doubtless true that if this duty were abolished it would still be necessary to guard against smuggling, but this work could be easily performed by one or two inspectors at moderate pay, and all the expensive machinery of this system could be dispensed with.

Following the example of the most enlightened nations, we should make all books free, but if this is asking too much we may at least add to the free list "books, maps, and engravings especially imported, not more than one copy for the use of any individual and not for sale; and books more than one year old and not republished in the United States."

I can see no possible objection to so reasonable a proposition.

I should not omit to say that the McKinley bill places on the free list "books in any other language than English." This adds another argument for the adoption of the clause above proposed. It will almost annihilate the work of the Post-Office Bureau, since books in German, French, Italian, Spanish, and other foreign languages comprise probably more than two-thirds of the books arriving by mail. The remaining duties will perhaps not exceed $5000, to $8000, but the expense of the establishment will not be materially diminished. Why not abolish the bureau altogether?

THE SALE OF HERBERT SPENCER'S WORKS.

MR. LEWIS G. JANES, of Brooklyn, writes to the New York Times, in reply to a letter from Prof. H. F. Osborn, of Princeton, that the sale of Herbert Spencer's works both here and in England has been much larger than Prof. Osborn supposes: "At the request of Messrs. Williams & Norgate, Mr. Spencer's English publishers, and from a detailed statement furnished by them, I am able to state that the total sales of Mr. Spencer's works in Great Britain up to the 18th of April, 1890, have amounted to 104,000 copies, exclusive of the 'Descriptive Sociology.' This number includes 33,750 copies of the various volumes of 'The Synthetic Philosophy,' 39,500 copies of 'Education,' and 20,000 copies of 'Man versus the State,' all of which are certainly comprised among Mr. Spencer's 'best-known works.' Eight thousand copies of his 'First Principles' have been sold by Messrs. Williams & Norgate, instead of 6000 as stated by Prof. Osborn. From Messrs. D. Appleton & Co. I also learn that the total sales of the authorized American editions of Mr. Spencer's works to date have amounted to 164,000 copies. If we include the cheap pirated reprints of certain of these works that have had a considerable sale in this country, the difference would be somewhat greater, but not so great as Prof. Osborn's statement would lead your readers to infer, while the aggregate circulation of Mr. Spencer's 'best-known works' in both countries much exceeds the figures given in Prof. Osborn's letter."

MOUNTING OF DRAWINGS.

FOR the proper mounting and straining of drawings, maps, engravings, etc., two things are absolutely essential—(1) good paste, and (2) cleanliness in handling. It is also advisable, says Work, to practise your hand upon some small unimportant work before attacking anything large and serious. A plain wooden frame for straining is now necessary, or, if the drawing is to be framed afterwards, a permanent wooden strainer; in either case the wood should be about 2 inches wide. Obtain some plain, unbleached calico, about 4 inches longer and wider than your strainer, damp the calico with a sponge, then paste 1 inch all round, and, after laying the strainer, or frame, face down on calico, turn the pasted edges over the frame; let this dry. Afterwards moisten with sponge and clean water the paper you intend to mount, sponging evenly all over, so that it is quite damp but not soaking wet; then paste about $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch all round the border, take your frame with strained calico upon it, and lay it face downward on the paper to be mounted, which it will take up; then with your hands or a clean linen cloth, carefully press the pasted border all round, and leave to dry slowly; then you will find it strained as tight as a drumhead, and you can either frame it in the ornamental frame you intend for it, or, after making a drawing on the strained paper, with a penknife cut it all round and release it from the strainer.

COMMUNICATIONS.

THE BANCROFT-WHITNEY CO.—A CORRECTION.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23, 1890.

To the Editor of the Publishers' Weekly:

SIR: Our attention has been called to an article from a California correspondent on the bottom of p. 561 and extending on to p. 562 of your issue of April 26, which does great injury to our company. We wish briefly to correct the misstatements.

H. H. Bancroft is the holder of one-quarter of the stock in the Bancroft-Whitney Company, but he has not been "entirely closed out from sharing the profits of that corporation through a combination on the part of the other holders of the stock."

It is true that in this corporation as in all others the majority of the stockholders control the Company and elect the officers; but the officers serving now were originally elected by and with the consent of Mr. H. H. Bancroft. Afterwards he had a quarrel with the President of the corporation and was dissatisfied with the Executive Committee because they would not oust the President, but all the other stockholders supported the Executive Committee.

The article further states: "The majority elect themselves officers at high and fancy salaries, the payment of which has used up all the profits." This is a deliberate misstatement. During the first year after its organization and while reprinting books that were destroyed in the Bancroft fire no dividend was paid, but the dividends paid since that time would be satisfactory to the stockholders of any corporation in the United States. The salaries paid are neither "high" nor "fancy." There could be no better evidence that the salaries are earned than the fact that those of whom he complains are not paid and under the by-laws of the company cannot be paid until after the payment of dividends to stockholders (Mr. H. H. Bancroft included) netting more than three times the market rates of interest on the money invested by them.

Nor has any injunction been put upon The Bancroft Company to restrain it from publishing law-books generally, nor has the Bancroft-Whitney Company sought to obtain any such injunction, but the latter Company has commenced a suit, asking the Court to restrain The Bancroft Company from interfering with the good-will and property sold by the Bancrofts to the Bancroft-Whitney Company.

Yours truly,
BANCROFT-WHITNEY COMPANY.

OLD BOOK CHAT.

A rara avis in the shape of a large-paper copy of the first edition of Sterne's "Sentimental Journey" is to be sold by auction shortly by Putticks & Simpson, of London. It should bring a good price. By the way, Dibdin in his "Decameron" speaks of a copy of the "Sentimental Journey," illustrated with pencil drawings by the author. They are, Dibdin says, "revolting to common decency." Now, I wonder, is that copy in existence, and if so, where is it? By the way, it is becoming quite too common to sneer at Dibdin and his books, the chief cry being that he is inaccurate. That may be so, but yet it is hard to find pleasanter reading than his "Tours," or more, charming chapters about old books than are to be found in the "Decameron." By all means let the worthy doctor flourish.

The sale, at the rooms of Messrs. Sotheby, Wilkinson & Hodge, of a portion of the library of Mr. Thomas Gaisford, affords us a passing glimpse of the state of the second-hand market in England. The splendid collection of Blake's publications (of which there were 10) realized the following prices: "Poetical Sketches," £48; "Book of Thel," £29; "Songs of Innocence," £41; "Songs of Innocence and Experience," £87; "Visions of the Daughters of Albion," £26 10 s.; "America," £61; "Europe," £59; "Urizen," £66; Illustrations of Young's "Night Thoughts," £50 10 s., and of the "Book of Job," £19 10 s.; a fine copy of "Arias Montanus," formerly belonging to Diana of Poitiers, brought (for its binding alone) £94 10 s.; the Giunta edition Boccaccio, 1527, £64.

THE sale of the original manuscripts of Charles

Dickens and Wilkie Collins, with some autograph programmes of private theatricals in which both took part, which begins in London in July, promises to be an interesting one. The entire original MSS. of "No Name," "The Moonstone," and "The Woman in White" of Collins and the manuscripts of some of Dickens' poems are in this collection. The catalogue is illustrated with facsimiles.

I HAVE a book by Bishop Wordsworth (Master of Trinity) entitled "Who Wrote Eikon Basilike?" Some wit has pencilled on the fly-leaf:

"Who wrote Eikon Basilike?
The Master of Trinity,
With all his divinity,
He wrote, 'Who Wrote Eikon Basilike?'"

In a sale by Evans, on November 16, 1836, a copy of the first edition of Walton's "Angler" described as fine and large brought £8. Mr. J. Bohn was the buyer. Quite recently copies have been sold for £180 and £185 respectively. What seems stranger, however, is the fact that there are many people here ready to pay even more than the above for a fine copy. I was fortunate in buying a copy at Sotheby's once for £23, but alas, it wanted a leaf!

IN Dibdin's "Library Companion" there is an index of "Books, Persons, and Things." The worthy doctor evidently thought that a book was not by any means a "thing" and indeed that it took precedence of a "person" "Gents," please take notice.

"AN interesting discovery has been made in Manchester," says the London Athenæum. "Mr. J. E. Cornish, the well-known bookseller, possesses an extensive stock of old books and MSS., including a collection from which there came, some years ago, the original score of Handel's 'Messiah,' now one of the treasures of Buckingham Palace. Mr. Cornish's hope of finding other Handel autographs has not yet been realized; but Dr. Henry Watson, in examining the musical MSS., has come across several in the handwriting of Mozart. There are two of the concertos written in his childhood, and several numbers of 'Mithridate,' the opera which came into being when the musician was at Milan in 1770. These Mozart autographs, like the Handel MSS., already mentioned, form part of the collection formerly owned by Mr. Thomas Kerslake, of Bristol."

MR. TINKER's books are to be sold by auction at Bangs' during this month. The sale will occupy three days at least, and comprises many choice and rare items including first editions of Dickens in fine state, also books by Thackeray in similar condition, Napoliana, very interesting autographs, etc. The late Mr. Tinker was one of the best known and best liked of the New York collectors, and his loss will be felt by many dealers as that of a personal friend. He was a generous buyer when satisfied that a book was "right," and his excellent taste in selection will no doubt be amply proved when the books come to the hammer. His death came as a rude and unwelcome surprise, for apparently Mr. Tinker enjoyed good health and looked like a man with many years before him. I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Tinker several times, and can well understand the deep affection with which he was regarded by those on a footing of greater intimacy.

BIBLIOPHILUS.

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

G. HEDLER, Grimmaischer Steinweg, 3, Leipzig, will publish shortly in book-form (in German) the list of libraries now appearing in the Export Journal. The list will include the libraries of England, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Switzerland, and North America.

HEREAFTER the Bulletin of the Boston Public Library will appear quarterly, beginning with April, 1890. In order to comply with the regulations of the United States Post-Office Department governing publications of this character, the sum of one dollar ($1.00) has been fixed upon as the price of an annual subscription. Subscriptions may be sent to Mr. Louis F. Gray, office Secretary Boston Public Library.

EDWARD HERON-ALLEN, author of "Violin-Making, as it was and is," "The Ancestry of the Violin," etc., has prepared a work entitled "De Fidiculis Bibliographia," being the basis of a bibliography of the violin and all other instruments played on with a bow in ancient and modern times, catalogue raisonné of all books, pamphlets, magazine and newspaper articles, book and dictionary extracts, dramas, romances, poems, methods, instruction books and theoretical and scientific works relating to instruments of the violin family, hitherto found in private or public libraries, or referred to in existing works on the subject." The work will be published by Messrs. Griffith, Farran, Okeden & Welsh, and is being issued by subscription. There will be two editions—a large-paper one and the ordinary one.

Catalogues of New and Second-hand Books.—Luzac & Co., London, Monthly list of Oriental books. (No. 3, 16 p. 16°.)—Alfred H. Maurais, London, Miscellaneous. (No. 9, 439 titles.)—Henry Sotheran & Co., London, Sotheran's Price Current. (No. 494, 80 p. 12°; contains a copy of the first folio edition of Shakespeare's works, 12 $\frac{5}{8}$ x 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in., for £285.)—Catalogue of the library of the late J. W. Winans to be sold at private sale at 926 Clay St., San Francisco, Cal.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—The Mudie Library Company (W. H. Halliday, Manager), 52 Boylston Street, has become insolvent. It is said to owe $359.59, of which $458.50 is preferred claims and $350 is secured on the library, which consists of about 4000 volumes.

BOULDER, COLO.—G. B. Blake, bookseller, has been succeeded by the Whitney-Blake Book and Drug Co.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Lyster & Coryell have dissolved partnership and sold their interest in the wood-pulp Webster's Dictionary to Jewell & Co. Mr. M. V. Coryell will continue to act as publisher's agent at 114 LaSalle St.

NEW YORK CITY.—Miss Sarah H. Leggett, formerly of 253 Fifth Avenue, has retired from business and sold to E. P. Dutton & Co. her entire stationery and engraving business, and has also transferred to them the card plates and dies left in her care.

NEW YORK CITY.—The executors of the estate of Robert Carter will put up at public auction (unless previously sold at private sale), in the auction-rooms of Bangs & Co., 739 and 741 Broadway, N. Y., on Tuesday, September 16, 1890, at 10 A.M., the stereotype plates—and in many cases the copyrights—books, bound and in sheets, comprising the entire stock of the firm of Robert Carter & Brothers. The printed catalogues will be ready on or about August 20, and may be had on application to the auctioneers. The business will be continued as heretofore till August 1, when the store will be closed.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Religio-Philosophical Journal, the well-known spiritualistic paper published in Chicago, has just celebrated its twenty-fifth birthday, and begun its new quarter century by inaugurating a new series, of which the first number is just issued. All interested in mental phenomena will find many new things from week to week in its pages.

GEORGE F. KELLY & Co., New York, announce the immediate appearance of the first number (for June) of a new art periodical, The American Etcher, a monthly, at 75 cents per copy or $6 a year. The announcement says: "The magazine will make a specialty of high-class American etchings, printed in edition-de-luxe style on soft Japanese paper, mounted at the four corners and enclosed in a mat, ready for framing. The size of the magazine, twelve by sixteen inches, allows a generous size of plate and margin. Besides the monthly plate, each number will have some letterpress of critical and practical value on topics connected with etchings and etchers. No. 1 will have an article by Fred'k Kepple, noting in detail 'What Etchings Are,' and he will be heard later again in an article on 'How to Frame an Etching.' The printing of the plates has been entrusted to Mr. G. W. H. Ritchie, of New York, himself an etcher of repute and therefore specially qualified for the task."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will hereafter publish Samuel Hubbard Scudder's important work on "The Butterflies of the Eastern United States and Canada," formerly published by subscription by the author.

F. J. SCHULTE & Co., Chicago, announce a second edition of "Cæsar's Column," which will be issued in cloth and in paper covers, as the first of the series to be entitled Ariel Library. The first edition of two thousand copies was sold in five weeks.

THE seventeenth bound volume of the new series of The Century is now ready. The great "History of Abraham Lincoln," by John G. Nicolay and John Hay, comes to a conclusion in this volume, and "The Autobiography of Joseph Jefferson" is one of its leading features. Description and travel are represented by two papers by George Kennan on "Siberia and the Exile System," and three timely papers on the Congo by W. P. Tisdell and E. J. Glave; there are many contributions on art, three timely papers on the problems of modern society, excellent short and serial stories, many poems, and much instructive reading in the department of "Open Letters." The illustrations are innumerable and of the high standard of artistic merit in design and execution that distinguishes this magazine. The department of "Bric-à-Brac" is especially full of good jokes and well-selected poems.

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. will shortly publish "Travels in Africa," by Dr. William Juncker, translated from the German by Prof. Keane, with a large number of illustrations and maps; "Two Summers in Greenland: an artist's adventures among ice and islands in fjords and mountains," by A. Riis Carstensen, with illustrations by the author; an elementary text-book on the principles and practice of "Decorative Design," fully illustrated, by Frank G. Jackson, Master of Birmingham Municipal School of Art; "H. M. Stanley—his life, works, and explorations," by the Rev. H. W. Little; "Locke" in the Philosophical Classics series; and two new novels—"A Modern Zoroastrian," by Samuel Laing, and "The Jewel in the Lotos," by Mary Agnes Tincker. The Lippincotts have just published the fifth volume of the new edition of Chambers' Encyclopædia. This contains articles by R. D. Blackmore on Gardening, William Morris on Glass Staining, C. I. Elton, M.P., on Government, Alfred Nutt on the Holy Grail, Dr. Buchan on the climate of Great Britain and Prof. Geikie on its geology, Dr. Peile on Grammar, Groome on Gypsies, Dr. Collingwood Bruce on Hadrian's Wall, Prof. P. G. Tait on Heat, Mr. Budge on Hieroglyphics, Mr. Gladstone on Homer, M. Pasteur on Hydrophobia, the Rev. J. Julian on Hymns, and Prof. Huxley on himself. The memoirs of Orlando Gibbons and Handel are contributed by Sir George Grove, those of Goldsmith and Gay by Austin Dobson, of the four Georges by Fraser Rae, those of Greene and Heywood by A. H. Bullen, that of Hafiz by Mr. Clouston, of Hood by Canon Ainger, and of Victor Hugo by W. E. Henley. M. Gennadius furnishes the article on the Greek Church, and Sir Spenser St. John that on Hayti; while the Duke of Argyll writes on the Highlands, and Austin Dobson on Hogarth.

PERSONAL NOTES.

THE Brentanos have engaged Mr. Frank Allen, lately a member of the firms of White, Stokes & Allen and White & Allen, to take charge of their publishing department, to the development of which they will give special attention in the future. Mr. Allen possesses a large acquaintance both here and abroad, not only with the trade, but among authors and artists as well, and it is to be expected that with his assistance many valuable and attractive additions will be made to the already growing list of the Brentanos. Mr. Allen sails June 7 on the Umbria to look after the foreign interests of the department.

MR. WILLIAM BEV. HARRISON, who was connected for eleven years with the old Anderson School-Book Co. and the New York School-Book Clearing-House, of the latter of which he was the Secretary since its organization, has resigned his position to become purchasing agent on his own account. He is probably the best-posted school-book man in the country, being acquainted with it in every detail, which fact, coupled with his energy and enterprise, and his many good personal qualities, will, no doubt, enable him to carry out fully the plans which he is maturing. His address for the present will be at his old headquarters, No. 65 Duane Street, New York.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

JOHN W. LOVELL COMPANY

Announce that they will publish in a few days the only authorized edition of the great theological sensation of the day in England,

LUX MUNDI.

1 vol., 12mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.75.

This edition of the work will contain the fac-simile authorization of the editor, Rev. Charles Gore, M.A., Fellow of Trinity College.

Twelve essays by eleven prominent writers. A wonderful coöperative production.

The Frank Acceptance of Evolution.

The Liberal Theory of Inspiration.

The Ungrudging Concessions to Modern Criticism of the Old Testament.

The Modification of Vital Doctrines.

All these have been advanced before, but never from such sources.

The book comes from what was considered the stronghold of English theological conservatism.

This book will be, in fact is already, the sensation of the age in theological circles. It glows with the ardor of conviction.

Its lucid and attractive literary style will attract thousands of readers who rarely open a theological treatise.

Also in Press, to be Ready about July 1 :

FUNK & WAGNALLS'

Announcement Extraordinary.

THE

Encyclopedia Britannica,

Complete for $38.00.

OUR EDITION IS NOT CHEAPLY BOUND, OR POORLY PRINTED. IT IS A FAC-SIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL, PAGE FOR PAGE, VOLUME FOR VOLUME, MARGINAL REFERENCES—ALL.

The entire 25 volumes are now ready.

You need not wait for the slow completion of volume after volume, with the attendant risks of that method of delivery. We guarantee satisfaction. If the purchaser is not satisfied for any reason, he can return the books within three days and money will be refunded. Remember, this is the same work exactly as the nine dollars per vol. ($225.00) edition, only it is not so expensively made.

A word as to international copyright: We have long favored such a law; in its absence, it has become well-nigh if not wholly impossible to do a successful book business and respect the wishes of the holders of foreign copyrights. Our books, again and again, are reprinted in England without so much as a thank you. If we make a market for a foreign book, it is straightway reprinted against us, at a less price, by some one who pays no royalty. We are forced by self-protection to adopt the following rule as the fairest, all around—that is practicable—to publish what we wish of foreign books and then pay the foreign copyright owners what we think to be a just share of the profits. This we regard as the nearest approach practicable to an equitable working plan until our Nation has recovered from its collapse of conscience on the International Copyright question. This rule we apply to our handling of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

We invite all to call at our store and examine our marvelously cheap edition of this wonderful work, or send money for a set.

Do not be misled by other offers. The advertisement of a cheap edition by a Philadelphia house is misleading. The edition so advertised is a cheap, hastily gotten up Chicago edition, of which only several volumes have as yet been published.

Remember, that we guarantee satisfaction and that the entire work is ready for examination and delivery.

50 Cent Edition of CAN LOVE SIN? CAN LOVE SIN?

T. B. PETERSON & BROTHERS, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, publish this day a 50-Cent Edition of the celebrated work, "CAN LOVE SIN?" never before published or sold under $1.50 a copy, and which, at the low price now issued, will have one of the largest sales of any book ever issued in this country.

We have also just issued in "PETERSONS' 25-CENT SERIES," editions of "India, the Pearl of Pearl River," by Mrs. Southworth, of "Clara Moreland" and "Viola," by Emerson Bennett, of "La Bete Humaine," Zola's new work, of "The Corsican Brothers," by Alexander Dumas, of "Worth the Wooing" and "Handsome Miss Lisle," by Lady Gladys Hamilton, to all of which orders from all dealers, large or small, are solicited. They are all issued in "PETERSONS' 25-CENT SERIES."

61 Books by Emile Zola, Mrs. Southworth, Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Hentz, Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, and others, are now published in PETERSONS' NEW 25-CENT SERIES. Never before sold under $1.50 each.

PETERSONS' NEW 25-CENT SERIES are the Cheapest, the Best, the most Popular, and the Fastest Selling Series of Novels ever issued. Money can be made by all that will sell these books, as they pay a very large profit. A New Volume will be added to the Series every two weeks.

Booksellers and News Agents everywhere will be supplied by the dozen, fifty, hundred, or thousand, with above books, at very low rates, and they will please send in their orders at once for them, to receive immediate attention, to the Publishers,

THE BEST KEY TO EDUCATIONAL BOOKS.

Imprint edition—without publishers' advertisements.

THE
American Educational Catalogue

For 1890 [Twenty-first Year].

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE, whose value to the trade is proved by the fact that it is now in its twenty-first year, claims to be the best practical aid to the dealer in or buyer of school-books.

With its alphabetical arrangement by authors, its separate class-index, carefully sub-classified to an extent not followed by any other catalogue, its completeness and accuracy, it is presented as the best finding-list, the most convenient order-list, and the most satisfactory class-catalogue for school use.

The catalogue has recently been remade, to omit books which have dropped out of use and to include all live books, and it adds all new books (ready or to be ready for the fall) in their proper alphabetical place.

The page giving the key to publishers will not be given in imprint editions unless specially ordered. The Telegraphic Code will not be continued, as the code plan is reported to us to give more trouble than it saves.

This Catalogue is specially-planned to be of service for circulation by retailers among schools and private buyers. The imprint edition possesses not only temporary value, but will serve its purpose during the whole year. No imprint edition of less than 100 copies can be supplied. Orders for editions should be sent to us at once.

CASH TERMS.

With sole imprint of ordering firm, and stitched, per 100 copies, $5.00 ; per 1000, $40.00.

There is no extra charge for printing name, business card, etc., on the imprint page; the last page is left blank at the disposal of the dealer, but any copy for that page, advertising special lines or general business, will be set up and printed thereon for $5.00, or $1.00 if plate is sent.

 * Copy for imprint and shipping directions should accompany the order.*

The regular Educational Number of "THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY" will be supplied at 25 cents per copy, or five for $1.00, postpaid.
